Come and experience our innovative multi-dimensional approach to education

July 10th at Wotton House School

The Baked Alaska Challenge is a chance to mix science, cooking and delicious food together. Students explore heat transfer by building the best insulated structure around a solid block of ice cream and then baking it. Can you stop yours melting?...

Join us as we celebrate 50 years (almost) to the day of mankind's first footsteps on the Moon. In an action packed morning we shall be embarking upon our own lunar exploration through discussion, experiment and activities. Our journey will take us from prehistory, through the age of enlightenment up to the 1960's and what must be the greatest adventure of all - Apollo 11. Learn how to spot the Apollo landing sites, see images of the equipment left behind, hold a (quite small) piece of the Moon itself...

The 10th of July is Moon Day at Wotton House School, come along for some fun, creativity and inspiration.

This is a free event but booking is essential as spaces are limited.
